

1. The Southeast Value-Added Dairy Discussion Group has two purposes:
 - a. SDBII faculty and staff use it to tell you about our upcoming events and funding opportunities.
 - b. You can use it to ask questions and get thoughtful, helpful answers.
2. Please use “reply all” to post your answer to the whole group – so we can all learn – but do so thoughtfully (make sure your answer is concise & on target).
3. Please make sure the subject line of your email reflects the content of your email.
4. You are welcome to ask questions about regulations. However, to get the most accurate answers, get in touch with your state’s regulatory personnel who can be found here: <https://www.fda.gov/food/federalstate-food-programs/milk-safety-programs-contacts-state-grade-milk-sanitation-personnel>
5. SDBII faculty and staff moderate all postings to the list. If a submitted message is not appropriate, we won’t post it, and we will let the writer know.
6. The Southeast Value-Added Dairy Discussion Group is not the place for complaining. Instead, it is a place for constructive dialogue about dairy processing-related issues. If you want to discuss a challenging issue, please do so respectfully and propose real solutions.
7. Remember: this group includes not only dairy producers and processors but state and federal regulatory agency staff, university research and extension faculty, consumers, and others who care about value-added dairy processing.
8. AFTER POSTING A QUESTION: If you receive good information from the network, please GIVE BACK by posting a very brief summary of how you resolved your question.

9. TOO MUCH EMAIL? The Southeast Value-Added Dairy Discussion Group digest options are available. See instructions below.
10. If you want people to get ahold of you directly about a service or item you may be offering, please include your full contact information (name, business name, email, phone number, address).

Thanks for making Southeast Value-Added Dairy Discussion Group work for everyone!
